OUTLINES.

The American Bankers' Association yesterday filed an important complaint with the Inter-State Commerce Commission, contending that the Southern Express Company and other express companies violate the new rate act of Congress in doing a banking business; it is further alleged that the Express companies do a banking business cheaper than the banks and do it with the capital of the banks without charge——Yesterday was South Carolina Day at the Jamestown Exposition and it was made a brilliant success by Governor Ansel and his staff, the Second South Carolina Regiment, City Academy of South Carolina cadets, addresses social features, etc. ——Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade reports that better crop prospects has stimulated commercial and industrial activity and practically in all the branches the conditions are satisfactory——At the trial of Judge Loving in Houston, Va., yesterday for the murder of young Theodore Estes for wronging his daughter, the attorneys for the prosecution and those for the defence argued before Judge Barksdale the instructions which should be given to the jury; the prosecution demanded that the jury should be charged against the unwritten law and instructed that no man has the right to become his own avenger; Judge Barksdale refused to so instruct the jury, thus leaving to it to consider the unwritten law as extenuating homicide. ——In New York yesterday there was a flurry in the money market, call money ranging from 6 to 12 per cent., causing some depression on the stock market——In the fight against the 2 1-4 cent fare at Asheville yesterday long arguments were made by attorneys for the Atlantic Coast Line and the North Carolina Corporation Commission——At Boise, Idaho, yesterday the attorneys for W. D. Haywood charged with the assassination of Governor Steunenberg continued to discredit the story of Harry Orchard, the self confessed murderer ——New York Market: Money on call strong and higher at 6 to 12 per cent., ruling rate 7 1-2, closing bid 10, offered at 12; spot cotton 15 points higher closing steady at 13.15 cents; flour steady with trade quiet; wheat firm, No. 2 red $1.00 1-2 elevator; corn barely steady No. 2, 63 1-2; oats steady, mixed 49 1-2; turpentine and rosin, quiet.

Says the Columbia Record: "A man can get drunk by inhaling the fumes of alcohol." Yes, but men will go right on getting it by the old and effective imbibing process.

That's an awful mess—that Loving-Estes affair in Virginia. There is talk now that, if Loving is acquitted, the Estes people will try to indict Miss Loving for perjury.

The price of calico and silk continues to advance, but men will go right on doing their best to make the price. You can't keep a working man down by making matrimony come higher.

Senator Knox is going around coddling his Presidential boom, and making a noise like a man trying to cook his own goose. He is already entered in the race that has its wind up in the camp of the "reactionaries."

The Hon. William J. Bryan's Commoner says "Oklahoma's constitution is the best constitution there is in the United States today." He is judging the other constitutions from what they look like with the loopholes exposed to view.

Mr. F. H. Holland, who recently returned to Wilmington from Norfolk, says the Jamestown Exposition will far surpass the other big expositions both as to exhibits, spectacular features and general attractions. Wilmington will take his word for it, and will see it before it closes.

The entrance of Ashley Horne into the race for Governor has largely increased the element of doubt as to who will come under the wire first. His name commands respect wherever he is known, and he is certain to prove a formidable competitor for the Democratic nomination. Mr. Horne is in no sense a practical politician, but he is a successful farmer, banker, manufacturer and merchant.

The Pender Chronicle, Burgaw, says: "A trip to Canetuck township will convince anyone that it produces, or can, enough corn for Pender county. Upon the whole we venture to say that there is no better corn land in the world. Truly it is the Egypt of this country." People who look out of car windows and see some of the sand ridges in eastern North Carolina can't take in what The Chronicle says, but the lands referred to by it are in no wise second to the best in Arkansas or Texas. Come to eastern North Carolina if you want to strike it rich in soil and climate.

Aduitant General Robertson Announces Dates For North Carolina National Guard.

MAYBE NAVAL RESERVES TOO

Sunday School Excursion Arrives at Raleigh From Several Points—Dr. Carlyle Returns From Fayetteville—Crops Good.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 28.—The official announcement is made by Adjutant General Robertson, of the North Carolina National Guard, that the annual encampment of the Second and Third regiments will be at the Jamestown Exposition in connection with North Carolina Week, August 12th to 16th, inclusive.

Rifle range practice by the First Regiment will be at Camp Glenn, Morehead City, August 8th to 13th and thereafter the First Regiment will join the Second and Third at Jamestown from August 14th to 16th inclusive. Orders in detail for the movement of the troops will be issued later.

It is understood also that at least four divisions of the Naval Reserves will be at the Jamestown Exposition North Carolina week. They are not designated yet, however.

A big Sunday School excursion from Hamlet, Sanford, Jonesboro and Pittsboro reached the city today over the Seaboard Air Line and returned this afternoon. The Sunday School parties of the several towns named enjoyed a picnic at Pullen Park and a baseball game between the B. B. B. team, of Raleigh, and the new Lee County Team from among the number of excursionists.

Prof. J. B. Carlyle, of Wake Forest College, was in the city yesterday, returning from Fayetteville, where on Wednesday night he delivered the graduating address before the class of students of the Highsmith Hospital Nurses Training School. Deserving of special mention in connection with the hospital, says Professor Carlyle, is the generosity on the part of Mrs. Eva Cochran, of New York, who has endowed six wards for the free treatment and care of the poor, and has rendered generous aid to the institution in other respects.

Rev. Livingston Johnson has returned from a visit to his mother in Scotland county, where he went from Parkton, where he preached last Sunday. He says the cotton crop in Scotland is the best he has seen this year, and that it is in remarkably good condition, considering the very unfavorable season.

HEAVIER RAIL ON W. & W.

Big Improvement on Line Between Wilmington and Goldsboro.

In view of the vast improvement being made by the Seaboard Air Line in the same respect, it will be of interest to know that the Wilmington & Weldon division of the Atlantic Coast Line between this city and Goldsboro is also being re-laid with the heavier 70-pound rail. The work has progressed from Goldsboro as far towards Wilmington as South Washington, and it is said that the entire work will be completed by July 15th. The rail now on the Wilmington and Weldon is the 56-pound weight and the 70-pound material being put down in its place is from the main line where the still heavier 90-pound steel is being used. The 56-pound rail will be used at unimportant points on the system for sidings and switches. The work on the Coast Line is said to be progressing much faster than on the Seaboard, but on the latter road there is much to be done in connection with the laying of the rail in the improvements to the roadbed. This with the scarcity of labor is responsible for the rather slow progress on the Seaboard.

Justice Bornemann's Court.

In Justice Bornemann's court yesterday Lawrence White was charged by Thos. Stirling with the larceny of $5.05 from him. At the trial it developed that the defendant was only ten years of age, and therefore could not be convicted if the theft had been proved on him, which was not done, so Stirling was taxed with the costs. John Evans, charged with assault and battery on his wife, Carrie Evans, was fined $5 and costs, $8 in all,. Justice Bornemann also issued warrants in nine civil cases which will come up for trial today at noon.

Railway Clerks to Meet.

There will be an important meeting of Wilmington Local No. 45, Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, tonight at 8 o'clock in the hall on Third street. At this meeting arrangements will be made for an elaborate social which will be given tonight week in honor of a large number of new members to be inducted into the order.

DEVELOPING EASTWARD

"Una Heights" Will Be Attractive Suburb—The Park Proposition—Opening of Freight Line to County Rock Quarry.

With the advent of the car line to that section there has been and is still continuing a wonderful development to the eastward of the city. Since the Delgado car was added to the system the travel has been all and more than could be expected, and it is expected that the traffic on this extension will still further develop as the suburbs out there begin to be settled.

Mr. Thos. W. Wood, who has charge of the Carolina Heights property on the north side of the Market street road, is beginning to develop this attractive suburb and a limited number of building lots are now being offered to the public on terms to suit purchasers. The tract has been divided into lots and laid out into streets and avenues and very soon the work of laying granolithic sidewalks and water works will begin. The "Heights" very soon promises to be one of the most attractive suburbs of the city as a place of residence. The map of this property shows a park reservation, the land for which was recently tendered by the owners to the city for acceptance. The tender was made through the citizens' committee appointed on this work, but for some reason the tender was never made through the committee to the Board of Aldermen. The Board of Aldermen meets in regular session Monday night, and it is hoped that at that time the committee will be prepared to tender the property to the Aldermen and there should be no doubt of its acceptance. It is susceptible of high improvement, is well located as to the established street car line and it would seem that the city could not afford to reject a proposition of so much importance.

In addition to the developments that are going on in this respect the convicts of the county have about completed grading the right of way for the spur track to the county rock quarry located on the Rhodes place to the east of the city. This extends from 17th and Princess streets due east to the National Cemetery fence and along with that to the Market street road and on out to the quarry. The Consolidated Company agreed to lay this track if the county would grade the right of way. This has now been completed and very soon the line will be in operation so that road material may be delivered where it is wanted.

Kicked by a Horse.

Mr. Joseph Goldberg, who lives near Sixteenth and Market streets, this city, was painfully injured as the result of being kicked in the face by a horse while driving in a buggy with a companion in Federal Point township, about eight miles from Wilmington, day before yesterday. The horse was rather slow and Mr. Goldberg leaned forward to slap the animal on the back with the lines. The horse was frightened badly and kicked over the dash board landing with both hoofs squarely in the young man's face. His nose was broken and he was otherwise badly disfigured. Mr. Goldberg drove back to the city with his friend and the wounds were dressed by Dr. A. H. Harriss after which the injured man was sent to his home.

Their Infant Dead.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Sellars have the sympathy of friends in the death of their little daughter, Annie C., aged 17 months, which occurred last night at 9:30 o'clock at the family home, No. 309 Harnett street. Mr. Sellars is a well known Seaboard Air Line engineer and has a great many friends who will hear of his loss with regret. The funeral will be conducted at 4 o'clock this afternoon from the residence and the interment will be in Oakdale cemetery.

Wants an Automatic Gate.

Mr. E. D. Pearsall, rural letter carrier on route No. 1 from Rocky Point, was in the city yesterday soliciting funds for an automatic gate to be placed at or near Island Creek, in New Hanover county. An effort was made to get the county to put in the gate, but the Commissioners could not see the obligation and declined the request. Mr. Pearsall says he must have the gate and is now after it by popular subscription.

Ordination Sunday Morning.

A service of much interest to the parish will be the ordination of Mr. William J. Gordon by Bishop Strange at Saint James' Church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Mr. Gordon recently completed his studies north and comes to the East Carolina Diocese to begin his work.

—There were several very heavy downpours of rain yesterday and the streets in places were flooded. At Second and Princess, where a sand trap became filled the water spread out over the entire surface and made things very disagreeable for pedestrians there.

CARS IN COLLISION

Smash on City Line of Consolidated Company at Seventh and Princess Street.

MR. J. B. LINDER HURT

Thrown by Impact Into Glass Window, Being Cut Severely About Arm and Face—One Car Following Another.

A dangerous rear-end collision between two city cars of the Consolidated Company occurred yesterday evening a few minutes after 6 o'clock at Seventh and Princess streets in consequence of which Mr. Joseph B. Linder, a well known young Wilmingtonian, was thrown into a glass window and painfully cut on the arm and about the face while a large number of passengers on both cars were badly shaken up and frightened out of their wits.

Both cars were bond east from the Princess street junction. City Car No. 19, in charge of Motorman Christian Peterson and Conductor Gaskins, was immediately following the Delgado car in charge of Motorman Darden. They must have been running pretty close together and at a fair rate of speed, for comparatively few, if any, of the passengers knew what had happened before both cars came together with a crash. the Delgado car having stopped suddenly at Seventh and Princess for a passenger. Mr. Linder must have been standing on the rear of the city car for he was thrown directly into the window in front which was broken all to pieces. Other passengers were thrown forward in their seats and it was some minutes before anyone realized just what had happened. Motorman Peterson either could not hold his car with the brakes under the momentum and the wet track or the brakes may have been out of order. The affair is being investigated by the Consolidated officials with a view of fixing the responsibility.

Both cars had their fenders pretty badly smashed up and had to be sent to the shed. Mr. Linder, whose wounds were bleeding profusely, was able to go to Dr. Russell's office but not finding Dr. Russell in, he went on to the office of Dr. Morris Caldwell where the wounds were dressed. He will be laid up for several days. A long gash was cut in his arm and he also had a bad gash in the side of his face. After the accident he went to his home where he will be under the care of a physician for some days.

Baseball This Afternoon.

There will be two fine games of baseball in the City League at Hilton Park this afternoon. The first will begin at 3 o'clock and will be between the Giants and Monarchs, the latter team having shut the Rattlers out by a score of three to two last Saturday afternoon. The second game will begin at 5 o'clock and will be between the Y. M. C. A. and Rattlers. The Y. M. C. A. has an unbroken record and a percentage of 1,000. It will be up to the Rattlers to play the game of their lives this afternoon. The Rattlers are said to have something up their sleeves for this afternoon and their friends are asked to come out and witness the disclosure.

Shooting at Rocky Point.

Passengers arriving on the train from the north last evening told of a shooting affair at Rocky Point yesterday afternoon. It appears that the railroad agent there was offered some violence by a negro at whom he fired several shots. The bloodhounds from Burgaw were telephoned for and were brought down on yesterday evening's train. A party also came down on the train to Castle Haynes to head the the negro off, as he was thought to be coming to Wilmington. It was impossible to get in communication with Rocky Point by telephone after night and no particulars were learned.

Police Committee In Session.

The police committee of the Board of Aldermen, composed of Mayer Springer and Messrs. W. A. French, Jr., and K. W. Jewell, was in session for several hours at the City Hall yesterday afternoon making up its reports of certain adjustments, etc., that will be reported at the regular meeting of the Board Monday night. The committee will also report on the election of two members of the force to succeed Messrs. William Harriss, dismissed, and J. J. Moore, resigned, to engage in business.

Goes With Candycapps.

Mr. M. A. Schecut, who has been with Bryant's for some time, has taken a position at the Candycapps, on Princess street, and will begin his new duties there on Monday, the first of July. Mr. Schecut will be in charge of the ice cream department of the popular establishment of Mr. Capps and this means that the business will be conducted along up-to-date lines and that the best product will be turned out of the manufactory.

HIS BODY IS RECOVERED

Colored Errand Boy Who Was Drowned at Foot of Market Street Two Days Ago—Came Up Near Where He Went Down.

The body of James Green, the ten-year-old son of Dock Green, colored, who was drowned forty-eight hours before at Market street dock while engaged in dipping up a bucket of water from the river while standing on the ferry flat at that point, was recovered yesterday afternoon shortly after 5 o'clock. The body came to the surface of the water a few feet from where he went down and was seen floating almost in an erect position by some one at the store of the Brunswick Grocery Company, immediately on the river front. The body was brought into the dock and ashore as quickly as possible and the father, a well known blacksmith of the city, was notified. Dr. Bell, the coroner, was summoned and viewed the body but an inquest was deemed unnecessary and the remains were turned over to the family for burial. The body was in a good state of preservation.

It will be recalled that the boy was drowned Wednesday afternoon when he was sent to the river with a bucket in which he was to dip up water to clean some spittoons from the store of Mr. William Goodman, where he was employed as an errand boy. The lad stooped down with the bucket and was about to lift it up full of water when he lost his footing and plunged overboard. He cried for help but the river was very rough and he went down in a very short time.

Green lives on Red Cross street, near Tenth, and the remains were taken there yesterday afternoon.

TEACHERS' CERTIFICATES

Five Year Applicants and Those for the State High Schools.

Professor Washington Catlett, county superintendent of public instruction, has received from State Superintendent Joyner directions as to applicants for five-year State Teacher's Certificates and State High School Teacher's Certificates, which are provided for under the act of the last Legislature.

All applicants for five-year certificates are required by law to file with their applications a statement from the county superintendent under whom they last taught that the applicant holds a first grade certificate and has taught successfully at least one year. The examinations will cover all the subjects named in Sec. 4087 of the Public School Law and will be held at the regular time and place fixed by Sec. 4162 of the law for examination for county certificates.

All applications for the High School certificates must be filed with the State Superintendent on blanks to be furnished on or before July 11th and the examinations will take place before the various county superintendents on July 25th. These are for teachers in any high schools established under the act of the late Legislature and it is a misdemeanor for any person to teach any subject in one of these schools upon which he has not been examined. The examination covers the usual high school branches with Greek, Latin, German and French.

Last Day of Tax Listing.

There will be a great rush with the tax listers today. They are holding forth in the entrance to the City Hall building and this is the last opportunity for persons to list their taxes, failure to do which subjects the delinquent to indictment in the court and double tax. The country listers were at the Court House all day yesterday for the convenience of property owners in the several townships who live in this city. The listers will complete their work at the City Hall at 6 o'clock this evening and a great rush is expected.

Little James Chadwick Better.

Dr. C. T. Harper, the attending physician, said last night that young James Chadwick, who was so painfully injured at Carolina Beach Thursday, was doing very nicely and that he had every chance for recovery. As yet no symptoms of internal injuries have developed and the little sufferer remains perfectly conscious. He is bearing up well through his misfortune and it is hoped that he will get well.

—The Southport Herald says: "On account of the scarcity of fish the Ocean Fisheries has shut down for some time. The season up to the present time has been a very good on, but it is at this time of the year that the menhaden are more scarce in these waters than at any other time. The factory will probably open again by the middle of July or the first of August."

—Mr. Jake L. Solomon and bride returned yesterday evening from their wedding trip which embraced a large number of points of interest in the North. They will be at home at the cottage of Mr. A. Shrier, on Wrightsville Beach.

ADJOURNED MEETING

Wilmington Presbytery in Session With First Church in This City Yesterday.

EDUCATIONAL AFFAIRS

Two Young Ministers Received Into the Presbytery and Assigned to Charges—Faison Male Academy and Sprunt Institute.

An adjourned session of Wilmington Presbytery was held in this city yesterday at the First Presbyterian Church. This was in pursuance of adjournment of the regular meeting of Presbytery some weeks ago. There were present Rev. K. McCaskill, of Ivanhoe; moderator; Rev. J. S. Crowley, of Wilmington, clerk; Rev. W. P. M. Currie, Wallace; Rev. P. McIntyre, Faison; Drs. Wells and McClure, Wilmington, and Ruling Elders B. F. Hall, Wilmington; W. H. Sprunt, Wilmington; J. L. Boney, Wallace.

The important business of the session was receiving into the Presbytery two ministers just from the seminary and their assignment to charges in this section. Mr. P. H. Clark was received from Roanoke Presbytery and he and Mr. E. B. Carr, of Wallace, were examined, preached their trial sermons and were duly licensed to preach. Mr. Clark will take charge of the Clinton, Warsaw and Oak Plains churches and Mr. Carr will be evangelist serving the churches in Brunswick county with his home at Southport. Mr. Carr will move there with his family next week. This evangelist is supported by the First Church, of Wilmington, and yesterday Rev. Mr. Carr was presented a horse, a buggy and harness by Mr. W. H. Sprunt and Mr. W. B. McCullan, elders of St. Andrew's Church, of this city.

At the session of the Presbytery the interests of Faison Male Academy and James Sprunt Institute were considered. Professor Spencer, of the Faison Academy, was present and gave a good account of the work and prospects of that institution. It was decided by Presbytery to increase the supporting fund of both these institutions and to pay off all indebtedness on the Faison school. A fine system of water works and sewerage is now being installed at James Sprunt Institute and this work will be completed in time for the Fall opening.

An Afternoon Wedding.

Mr. Lester G. King, of this city, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick King, of Pender county, and Miss Minnie D. Buie, a daughter of Mr. Hugh Buie, of Delgado, were married yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mr. J. S. Singletary, No. 705 South Front street, Rev. J. S. Crowley, pastor of Immanuel Presbyterian Church, officiating. It was a quiet but very pretty wedding and was witnessed by a number of friends of the young people. The groom's sister and Mrs. George T. Smith were the only members of the bridal party. Mr. King and bride left on the afternoon Seaboard train for a wedding trip to Charlotte. Later they will be at home to friends in this city.

Salvation Army Services.

The regular meetings will be held by the Salvation Army tonight and Sunday. Tonight the usual outdoor service will be held at the old stand Front and Princess streets, at 7:30, followed by a song and praise service in the hall at 8 o'clock. NORFOLK & SOUTHERN EXTENSION.

The Norfolk & Southern is the new railroad system, which has developed from Norfolk into eastern North Carolina within the past few years. The company has bought and consolidated several old lines, built new ones, contemplates others, and the fact is dawning that it is sooner or later to be an important system. The line already extends as far this way as Newbern and Goldsboro, and there have been rumors that it is contemplated to build further into southeastern North Carolina. That means that Wilmington may be one of its objective points, but of that we have no definite information. The Pender Chronicle hears that the system will probably build a line into Pender county, and referring to the Norfolk & Southern, that esteemed contemporary makes this interesting reference to it.

"There are various rumors afloat as to the direction the above railroad is to take when the work of construction begins. We learn that it is at or near Catharine Lake in Onslow county, and that it is undecided as to where it will run in this direction. It seems to us that a route through the Maple Hill section, coming thence through Burgaw, if the road is heading for Charleston as reported, would be the most desirable for the road, as it would open up one of the finest sections of Pender county. The coming of this road through Burgaw would mean much for our town, and it behooves our people to bestir themselves at once, and take whatever steps are necessary to secure it. With competing lines of railway it would encourage the establishment of factories, as it is a well known fact that freight rates have much to do with this kind of business, no man or company being willing to invest money in a manufacturing enterprise where they are liable to be frozen out by excessive freight rates. This is a matter of great importance to Burgaw, and if our people wish to get the benefit of this railroad it would be well to act at once, if any action is taken at all."

PROF. MASSEY TO WRITE.

The Duplin Journal, of Warsaw, says:

"It will doubtless interest hundreds of our farmer readers to know that Prof. Massey, so long and so successfully identified with the Practical Farmer, has severed his connection with that paper, and will hereafter write regularly for The Progressive Farmer, of Raleigh, N. C. Certainly no man in Southern agricultural work has won a greater following than Prof. Massey, and as his life work has been in the South, he will hereafter contribute only to Southern farm papers. His letters will appear in The Progressive Farmer each week."

The Star takes this from The Journal in order to endorse its reference to Prof. Massey and congratulate the Progressive Farmer. We take the opportunity to say that the Progressive Farmer is not only a North Carolina paper, but is a Southern institution, and one worthy of it in the ability of its staff of writers, in their practical and scientific knowledge of agriculture, and in its helpfulness and usefulness to the farmers in developing the great agricultural resources of the South. It is devoted to the cause and exploits it in a manner that should make for it a place in the home of every farmer from Virginia to Texas. The acquisition of Prof. Massey to its already strong corps of agricultural writers adds to the capabilities that make The Progressive Farmer a necessity to the man who wants to make the ground yield him the most satisfactory results. We don't know how to be of greater benefit to our farmers than to make that suggestion.

ONLY A LAUGHING MATTER.

Editor John Temple Graves, of Atlanta, has been quoted as saying that President Roosevelt had remarked to him that he might consent to be a candidate for President again if he thought by so doing he could break the solid South by getting the electoral vote of Georgia or any other Southern State. Col. Graves now rises to explain that while the President did not use the expressions attributed to him, yet he (Col. Graves) did say to the President that if he (Mr. Roosevelt) would accept the Republican nomination next year, he would be sure to get the electoral vote of more than one Southern State, and, in his opinion, many Southern States.

Col. Graves has been put in the attitude of misrepresenting the President, but while he makes the correction he acknowledges that he tried to conjure Mr. Roosevelt with assurances that one or more Southern States would vote for him. If rM. Roosevelt hadn't known that Col. Graves is honest and innocent he might have reported to the detectives that the Georgia orator did his best to sell him a gold brick. As it was, however, Roosevelt didn't have anything else to do than appear "de-lighted" while Graves was present, but if a snap shot of the President had been taken after the Georgian had left it would have caught the President jes lamin to hisself," as Uncle Remus would say of Br'er Possum.

IT ACTED WISELY.

The State Democratic Convention of Pennsylvania acted wisely in turning down a resolution indorsing William J. Bryan for the Presidency in 1908. Such an indorsement would have encouraged a candidacy that forebodes nothing but disaster and demoralization to the Democratic party. Twice has Mr. Bryan been honored with the national leadership of his party, and twice has that party gone down in defeat—the last time it being so overwhelming that the party has not yet recovered from the disaster.

Why should the Democratic party again engage in a hopeless struggle? To be defeated a third time under the leadership of Mr. Bryan would mean irretrievable ruin and the surrender of some of the principles that are the very essence of real Democracy.

The plain duty of every State Democratic Convention that will be held during the next year is to indorse no candidate for the Presidency. Let the delegates to the National Convention go untrammelled by instructions, free to act for the real interests of the party they represent.

There is hope for the Democrats in 1908 if they are wise enough to name a ticket and adopt a platform that will unite the party.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—Senator Foraker and his friends have again notified the administration that they are in no hurry to get out of the trouble zone. — Washington Post.

—The magazines and the artists are making special efforts to preserve the "vanishing race" of Indians. But we have more interesting types among us that the next generation will not know except in literature and art. Take the typographical tourist; will not he disappear before the last Indian seeks the happy hunting grounds? Take the "uncles and aunties" of the old plantation—the real thing, not the counterfeit; these remain only in some aged specimens. Let us preserve what is near as well as what is afar.—Jacksonville Times-Union.

—The steel trust has decided that it will manufacture no more armor-plate and the Cramps have found the building of battleships unprofitable, and yet both have been enriched by the tariff imposed with the avowed purpose of building up their plants. And now an establishment at Newport News and another in New England bid greatly under them for building the greatest of our battleships, and largely underbid the naval estimates made for a guide to the department. Nothing could be plainer than the verdict thus rendered as to the folly of a prohibitive tariff.—Jacksonville Times-Union.

—If the facts are not exaggerated, the "Pentecostal Power distributed by the wife of Judge Ladd of Iowa's Supreme Court during the religious services she is conducting in Des Moines, causes the men converts to shout and the women to scream, and one man who took it lay unconscious two days and nights on the floor of the mission house. More than that, Mrs. Ladd says that when those thus prostrated regain consciousness they speak in a strange tongue. This ought to be looked into. The symptoms are much like those of "wood alcohol," but worse.—Brooklyn Citizen.

—Tolstoi sneers at the peace conference at The Hague as a piece of hypocrisy and nothing else. Evidently the poor old man is in his dotage. In this age of democratic movement nothing is more essential to monarchs themselves than peace. War is so costly and entails such burdens of taxation that with the spread of intelligence it becomes desperately dangerous to embark in conflict out of bravado or lust of conquest. No nation is going to imitate the France of 1870. There is nothing hypocritical in the modern peace movement.—Buffalo News (Rep.)

TWINKLINGS.

"Why, Mary," said her mistress, "I told you to tidy up my room an hour ago, and here it is in terrible disorder." "Yes, mum, and I did," said Mary, "but the master came in to put on a clean collar, mum, and he lost the stud."—London Tatler.

—"He's a great growler, isn't he?" "Hurricane is nothin' to him." Finds fault with everything?" "Worst you ever saw." "By the by—what is he doing now?" "Editing the 'Band of Hope' and 'Sunshine' department of a new magazine!"—Atlanta Constitution.

—"We have left undone the things we should have done," asknowledged the fair worshiper. "It's all right, dear," whispers a motherly soul in the pew back of her. "It's not undone any more, I reached over and hooked it while you was standing up."—St. Louis Republic.

—"Of course," said the author of the very Frenchy comedy, "the dialogue is rather racy, and perhaps it's too long, but I could boil it down." "Yes," replied the dosgusted critic, "if you expect the public to swallow this, by all means boil it."—Philadelphia Press.

—Mr. Fastset (with Extra! ! !)—Sensational elopement! Well, what do you think of that? Young Galey has run off with his father's stenographer! Mrs. Fastset—Heavens! Why, it'll break the poor old man's heart. Mr. Fastset—Oh, I don't know. There are pretty stenographers in the employment agency as ever were hired.—Puck.

EASILY DECIDED.

This Question Should be Answered Easily by Wilmington People.

Which is wiser—to have confidence in the opinions of your fellow-citizens, of people you know, or depend on statements made by utter strangers residing in far-away places? Read the following:

H Cronenberg, photographer, of 119 1-2 Market street, Wilmington, N. C. s,ays: "I used Doan's Ointment and it did its work promptly and permanently. I had a rash all over me, and no one knows how I suffered. It was like being in the infernal region and I could get no relief. I did not dare scratch because that made it worse. I tried everything but only to be disappointed. Some one told me about Doan's Ointment and I procured a box at R. R. Bellamy's drug store. I went home and applied some of the ointment, and I can say that it brought the first relief I had had for a long time. I can only add that it is a preparation of great merit."

Remarkable Rescue.

That truth is stranger than fiction, has once more been demonstrated in the little town of Fedora, Tenn., the residence of C. V. Pepper. He writes: "I was in bed, entirely disabled with hemorrhages of the lungs and throat, Doctors failed to help me, and all hope had fled, when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery. Then instant relief came. The coughing soon ceased; the bleding diminished rapidly, and in three weeks I was able to go to work." Guaranteed cure for coughs and colds. 50c and $1.00 at R. R. Ted's Beginning.

The new assistant rector was trying to impress upon the mind of his young son the difference between his own position and that of his superior. "Now, Ted," he ended, "I want you to remember to be very polite to the rector. We are strangers, and I am only the assistant. It becomes us to be extremely courteous. Some day perhaps I shall be rector myself."

The next day the boy was walking with his father when they met the dignified rector.

"Hello!" promptly began Ted. "Pop's been tellin' me 'bout you—how you're the real thing, an' he's just the hired man an' we got to knuckle under. But some day he may be 'it' himself, an' then you'll see!"

Chicken Obstinacy.

A police court story which is said to illustrate "the indifference of the average chicken to good advice" was told recently at Kingston, England, when a carter was charged with stealing a fowl.

"I am guilty of stealing the fowl," admitted the prisoner. "It was eating the corn out of my horse's nose bag, and I said to it, 'If you don't go away, I'll make you,' and struck it with the whip. When I saw it was dead, I put it in the wagon. I didn't know who owned it."

"I judge it was the chicken's fault," remarked the prosecutor, "and I'll not press the charge against the man."

Luck.

Luck means rising at 6 o'clock in the morning, living on a dollar a day if you earn two, minding your own business and not meddling with other people's. Luck means appointments you have never failed to keep, trains you have never failed to catch. Luck means trusting in God and in your own resources.—Exchange.

Helping Her Out.

Miss Peppery—No, he didn't like your eyebrows. He said they were too black. Miss Paintter—The idea! Miss Peppery—However, I assured him they were not as black as they were painted.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The good man prolongs his life. To be able to enjoy one's past life is to live twice.—Martial.

Her Self Control.

"There's one thing I will say," remarked Mr. Millions, "and that is that my daughter, Arabella, has a fine disposition."

"Indeed!"

"Yes, sir. The way she can listen for hours to her own playing on the violin shows remarkable self control."

Accounted For.

"The baby's awful bald," said Mabel. "Yes; they come bald on purpose. If they had hair they'd pull it all out, and then all that hair would be wasted," said Tommy. "Where'd he learned

IN THE DEATH CHAIR.

How It Feels When the Killing Current Is Turned On.

He waited a second or an age. Then suddenly it seemed as if he must leap from the chair, his body was swelling to some monstrous, impossible, inhuman shape; his muscles were stretched, millions of hot and dreadful needles were piercing and pricking him, a stupendous roaring was in his ears, then a million colors—colors he had never seen or imagined before, colors no one had ever seen or imagined, colors beyond the range of the spectrum, new, undiscovered, summoned by some mysterious agency from distant corners of the universe—played before his eyes. Suddenly they were shattered by a terrific explosion in his brain—then darkness.

But, no; there was still sensation. A dull purple color slowly spread before him, gradually grew lighter, expanded, and with a mighty pain he struggled, groping his way in torture and torment over fearful obstacles from some far distance remote as black stars in the cold abyss of the universe. He struggled back to life, then an appalling confusion, a grasp of consciousness; he heard the ticking of the two watches. Then through his brain there slowly trickled a thread of thought that squirmed and glowed like a white hot wire.

A faint groan escaped the pale lips below the black leather mask; a tremor ran through the form in the chair; there it relaxed and was still.

It's all over. The doctor, lifting his fingers from Archie's wrist, tried to smile and wiped the perspiration from his face with a handkerchief.—From Brand Whitlock's "The Turn of the Balance."

A Hypothetical Question.

"Miss de Smythe," began the young man, "I want to ask you a hypothetical question."

The girl nodded assent.

"If a young man of good family and sound health and an assured income of $5,000 were to meet the most charming of girls and feed her ice cream for a year; if she had a complexion like a rose, hair a crown of golden glory, the hand of a fairy, the bearing of a queen; if she knew how not to play the piano, was versed in cooking, competent to superintend a home, and if the young man, auspiciously catching the young girl alone, were to murmur into her ear of pearl, 'Will you marry me?' what, in your estimation, would be her condition of mind and what her answer?"

"While not an expert alienist," responded the girl coyly, "I think she'd believe him a chump for being so slow, but she'd say 'Yes.'"

With the preliminaries thus settled, the naming of the day was a simple matter.—Philadelphia Ledger.

HARRY ORCHARD DISCREDITED.

Haywood's Attorneys Endeavor to Break Down Assassin's Story.
(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Boise, Idaho, June 28.—Attorneys for Wm. D. Haywood, charged with killing former Governor Steunenberg, today continued to center efforts on the discrediting of Harry Orchard and the establishment of their assertion that Orchard killed Steunenberg in revenge for the loss of his interest in the Hercules mine. They directly attacked the Vindicator explosion with the testimony of a witness that made it appear accidental rather than criminal.

Thomas Wood, a non-unionist, who entered the Vindicator mine as a timberman after the strike began, swore that the night before the explosion he placed a box containing twenty-five pounds of giant powder at the shaft of the eighth level. He saw the powder the next morning shortly after 10 o'clock and a few minutes later Superintendent McCormick and Foreman Beck came to the sixth level, where they were killed. Wood swore that when he reached the shaft twenty minutes later the powder was gone and it was a reasonable inference that McCormick and Beck took it with them. Wood testified that he had seen a revolver in Beck's pocket; that the fragments of only one revolver were found in the sixth level and that the bodies of McCormick and Beck were blown apart, indicating that the explosion had occurred between them. Orchard said that he fixed a revolver with a wire attachment so that when the safety bar was raised it would send a bullet in the giant powder he had placed. One witness for the State has sworn that he later found a wire attached to the safety bar, but Wood said that he carefully examined the safety bar and found nothing attached to it.

Wm. Easterly and C. D. Copely both swore that they heard Orchard tell of the loss of the Hercules mine and threaten to kill Steunenberg for it. On cross examination the State scored Easterly, who received two letters and one telephone message from Orchard on the eve of the killing of Steunenberg and Copely for remaining quiet when they knew a crime might be committed.

Easterly contended that he did not know Steunenberg lived at Caldwell, and explained that although he knew Thomas Hogan was Harry Orchard, he took no steps immediately after the crime except to consult counsel for the Federation because he was not an informer. Copely asserted that he did not take Orchard seriously when they met in San Francisco and told him of the Bradley crime.

ROYAL NICKNAMES.

They Tell Briefly the Story of Each King's Career.

How do kings come by the curious nicknames that have been bestowed upon them? would be an interesting subject for some one to write about. We know fairly well how England begot its Lion Hearted, its Great, its Confessor and its Conqueror kings, but how about those of other lands? Thus France has had its monarchs who were termed the Little, the Bold, the Stammerer, the Simple, the Indolent and the Fair, in addition to the Long, Handsome, Beloved, Affable, Fortunate, Good, Wise, etc. German history tells us of one who was called the Fat and another the Blind; also the Child, the Fowler, Blood, Red, Black, Superb, Sharp, Holy and Lame. Russia has had a wonderful list in which the titles of Terrible, Fierce, Lion, Grim, Proud, Impostor and Lightfoot are prominent. Denmark shows a curious array, with its Blue Tooth, Forked Beard, Single, Hungry, Harefoot, Lamb, Pious and Cruel. Hungary has had a Saint, German Thunder, Venetian and a King Mary; Portugal, a Fat, Idle, African and Perfect; Spain, a Monk and Gouty and an assortment of oddities, including the Infirm, Bad, Noble, Strong, Valiant, Gracious, Sickly, Impotent, Beneficent and Ceremonious. The names in a way tell briefly the story of each king's career.

THE LIFE PLANT.

Its Curious Leaves and How They Die and Bloom Again.

Visitors to Bermuda often bring back to this country as a souvenir of their trip the leaves of an interesting plant of the house leek family. It is known as the life plant, and when the leaves begin to shrivel and fade they send out little shoots which in turn bear leaves that continue to grow and remain fresh and green for months. The leaves are about four inches long, rich green in color and of a smooth waxen texture. If you take one of the leaves and pin it to the wall indoors, it will begin to sprout within three or four days, be it winter or summer. At first the top portion of the leaf will begin to wither and shrivel up, and this is likely to continue until the upper half has lost its green color. Then tiny white roots will sprout from the edges, and in time diminutive green leaves will appear on these. These little offshoots will sometimes grow to be an inch long and contain several pairs of leaves. The limit of their existence seems to depend upon the amount of heat and light they can obtain.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Her Astral Spouse.

An unmarried woman was drawing dangerously near the threshold of that age where the unmated must abandon every matrimonial hope. Belonging, as she did, to that large contingent of women to whom marriage represents the only possible career, her anxiety as she saw her chances of achieving it dwindling to the vanishing point became keen, and in her distress she began to seek for comforting reassurances among that fraternity who for a suitable consideration obligingly offer to reveal the secrets of the future.

In the course of an interview with one of these "wise women" she was told, "My dear, you already are married on the astral plane, and it is your astral husband who is keeping the earth men away from you."

"Oh," cried the ungrateful bride, "please tell him not to!"

Properties of Gold.

Pure gold is unaffected by the atmosphere either at ordinary temperatures or when the metal is heated. It is also proof against the action of common acids when used singly. Moreover, it confers its properties more or less upon copper and silver when these metals are alloyed with it. Thus, for example, twelve carat gold will withstand the action of nitric acid and the atmosphere at ordinary temperature, but some of the copper will be oxidized during annealing. Nine parts of gold may be alloyed with ten parts of platinum in any ordinary crucible and fire, but such an alloy will not be uniform; a larger proportion of platinum will free itself from the gold on solidification, and a homogeneous alloy of the two metals cannot be obtained.—Jewelers' Circular-Weekly.

Mice That Were Tipplers.

A correspondent writes: In Quetta some years ago I had occasion to go early one morning into a miscellaneous store kept by a Parsee, who also kept a liquor bar. As I entered the shop I noticed a mouse reeling across the floor, and I remarked to the shopkeeper that the mouse seemed to be hurt, but his reply astonished me. He said that that mouse and several others that infested his shop were confirmed drunkards. During the night they regularly drank all the liquor which remained in the glasses which the soldiers had used in the evening for their drinks.—Exchange.

Crushed.

"Hallo, Badger," said Thorpe, "met a friend of yours the other day. He's been talking about you, and I feel it my duty to tell you what he said."

"Ah, well, I don't care to hear what he said. I know it was something disagreeable," replied Badger.

"How do you know that?"

"Because you are so anxious to tell it. Good morning."

The Relief of It.

"Well, I finally summed up the courage to speak to her father last night. I tell you, it was a great relief."

"Gee! What did he say?"

"Oh, you misunderstand me. He wasn't in."—Philadelphia Press.

BETTER CROPS HELP BUSINESS

Commercial and Industrial Activity Knows No Let Up.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, June 28.—R. G. Dunn & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade tomorrow will say:

Improvement has become more pronounced in distribution of seasonable merchandise and with the reduction of retail stocks there is a broadening of interest in jobbing and wholesale shipments of Fall and Winter lines. Weather conditions have again favored both trade and agriculture, rapid development of the crops being potent for good in commercial departments. Little machinery is idle in the leading industries, except where repairs or inventories interfere. Building operations are large, although less than contemplated owing to financial conditions.

Increased demand of finished steel shapes makes it more difficult for the mills to arrange for the customary seasonable shut down for repairs and inventories. Well filled order books and importunate customers seeking prompt deliveries will make the season of idleness more brief than ever before. It is possible, but not probable than pending labor disputes may reduce activity. Many wage scales have been signed and there is little controversy regarding those still under negotiation.

Textile plants continue to produce freely, much business being already under contract, but orders are light at this time owing to stock taking by jobbers. From reports thus far available it is evident that supplies in second hands are low, the last few weeks of warm weather having exerted a most salutory influence.

Variations of large size in the cost of raw material have no influence on cotton goods nor is the attitude of the buyer potent. The dominant factor is the extent to which the mills are sold ahead, supplemented by some curtailment of production because of the scarcity of labor. Better conditions in China give an improved tone to the export division, but there is little inquiry.

Progress is slow in the market for woolens, orders being confined to sample pieces in most lines that have been opened. Dress goods for next Spring attract little attention, sales being confined to sample pieces in most lines that have been opened. Dress goods for next Spring attract little attention, sales being confined to staples, and duplicate Fall orders are light.

FLURRY IN MONEY MARKET.

Call Rates Went Up to 12 Per Cent. Stocks Depressed.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, June 28.—The call money market was further disturbed today by preparations for the July settlements. Loans made at the Stock Exchange today have to carry over until Monday. On Monday will begin the distribution of dividends and interest to an amount estimated at $164,000,000. Such was the course of reasoning which prompted the pursuit of the early operations in stock today until the failure of New York City bond offering threw a damper on enthusiasm. It is said that much of this $183,000,000 will find its way back into stocks for re-investment. It is said also that the money market will subside into easier conditions soon after the turn of the month.

Call loans touched 12 per cent. today. What may happen when the rate for call loans subsides again is an unsettled question. There were further gloomy reports on crop prospects from the same source as caused yesterday's jump in the wheat market and the late reaction in stocks, but both were comparatively indifferent to these forebodings today.

REBATE ON YELLOW PINE.

Southern Shippers Want $2,000,000 Back From Railroads.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Washington, June 28.—Scores of petitions were received today by the Inter-State Commerce Commission demanding reparatory damages from the railroad companies in the southeastern territory on shipments of yellow pine lumber heretofore made. The complainants in all of the cases are lumber associations and lumber dealers, both individuals and corporations, in various States of the South. The cases are practically identical with those already filed with the Commission, varying only in the amounts of reparation demanded. These amounts cover a period of years in shipments of yellow pine and vary greatly, but it is thought will aggregate nearly $2,000,000. The clerical force of the Commission is swamped with the work of filing and docketing the complaints.

NEW YORK WITHOUT ICE.

Drivers of Delivery Wagons on Strike for More Pay.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, June 29.—Fifteen hundred to two thousand drivers of the Delivery Wagons of the American Ice Company went on a strike today to enforce a demand for extra pay for extra work. The depots of the company were stored with ice and its arrival was urgently awaited at thousands of hotels, restaurants, soda fountains and other places where cool drinks are usually dispensed, but hardly a wagon of the American Ice Company was moved. The wages of the drivers have lately been increased from $14 to $16 per week, but they declare that they are often required to work for hours without extra pay, and that the officials of the company refused to treat with the representatives of their union. President Olear, of the American Ice Company, said today that if the strikers do not return to work by tomorrow their places will be filled.

MARK TWAIN'S STOGIES.

The Effect They Produced on the After Dinner Festivities.

One night at the Hartford Monday Evening club meeting George, our colored butler, came to me when the supper was nearly over, and I noticed that he was pale. Normally his complexion was a clear black and very handsome, but now it had modified to old amber. He said:

"Mr. Clemens, what are we going to do? There is not a cigar in the house but those old Wheeling long nines. Can't nobody smoke them but you! They kill at thirty yards. It is too late to telephone—we couldn't get any cigars out from town—what can we do? Ain't it best to say nothing and let on that we didn't think?"

"No," I said, "that would not be honest. Fetch out the long nines," which he did.

I had just come across those "long nines" a few days or a week before. I hadn't seen a long nine for years. When I was a cub pilot on the Mississippi in the late fifties I had had a great affection for them, because they were not only—to my mind—perfect, but you could get a basketful of them for a cent—or a dime. They didn't use cents out there in those days. So when I saw them advertised in Hartford I sent for a thousand at once. They came out to me in badly battered and disreputable looking old square pasteboard boxes, 200 in a box. George brought a box, which was caved in on all sides, looking the worst it could, and began to pass them around. The conversation had been brilliantly animated up to that moment, but now a frost fell upon the company—that is to say, not all of a sudden, but the frost fell upon each man as he took up a cigar and held it poised in the air—and there, in the middle, his sentence broke off. That kind of thing went on all around the table until when George had completed his crime the whole place was full of a thick solemnity and silence.

Those men began to light the cigars. Rev. Dr. Parker was the first man to light. He took three or four heroic whiffs, then gave it up. He got up with the remark that he had to go to the bedside of a sick parishioner. He started out. Rev. Dr. Burton was the next man. He took only one whiff and followed Parker. He furnished a pretext, and you could see by the sound of his voice that he didn't think much of the pretext and was vexed with Parker for getting in ahead with a fictitious ailing client. Rev. Mr. Twichell followed and said he had to go now because he must take the midnight train for Boston. Boston was the first place that occurred to him, I suppose.

It was only a quarter to 11 when they began to distribute pretexts. At ten minutes to 11 all those people were out of the house. When nobody was left but George and me, I was cheerful. I had no compunctions of conscience, no griefs of any kind. But George was beyond speech because he held the honor and credit of the family above his own, and he was ashamed that this smirch had been put upon it. I told him to go to bed and try to sleep it off. I went to bed myself. At breakfast in the morning when George was passing a cup of coffee I saw it tremble in his hand. I knew by that sign that there was something on his mind. He brought the cup to me and asked impressively:

"Mr. Clemens, how far is it from the front door to the upper gate?"

I said, "It is a hundred and twenty-five steps."

He said, "Mr. Clemens, you can start at the front door, and you can go plumb to the upper gate and tread on one of them cigars every time."

It wasn't true in detail, but in essentials it was.—Mark Twain's Autobiography in North American Review.

Peculiar Vienna Custom.

The Viennese take their pleasures as regularly as they do their meals, but they do not neglect business or keep late hours. One thing perhaps which helps to keep the young Viennese of moderate means and economical mind regular in his evening hours is the fact that he must pay to get into his own rooms after 10 o'clock. Vienna is one vast system of apartment houses, and a house master is in charge of each one. At 10 o'clock he locks the front door, and any one desiring to get in after that hour must pay for admittance, and the old resident has no more right to a key than the ephemeral lodger.—London Graphic.

ARGAND LAMPS.

A Swiss Doctor's Invention and What It Accomplished.

What did Argand do for the lamp? Examine an ordinary lamp in which coal oil is burned. The chimney protects the flame from sudden gusts of wind and also creates a draft of air, just as the fire chimney creates a draft. Argand's lamp was the first to have a chimney. Look below the chimney and you will see open passages through which air may pass upward and find its way to the wick. Notice further that as this draft of air passes upward it is so directed that when the lamp is burning an extra quantity of air plays directly upon the wick. Before Argand the wick received no supply of air. Now notice—and this is very important—that the wick of our modern lamp is flat or circular, but thin. The air in abundance plays upon both sides of the thin wick and burns it without making smoke. Smoke is simply half burned particles (soot) of a burning substance. The particles pass off half burned because enough air has not been supplied. Now Argand, by making the wick thin and by causing plenty of air to rush into the flame, thereby caused it to burn with a white flame.

After the invention of Argand the art of lamp making improved by leaps and by bounds. More progress was made in twenty years after 1788 than had been made in twenty centuries before. New burners were invented, new and better oils were used and better wicks made, but all the new kinds of lamps were patterned after the Argand.—S. E. Forman in St. Nicholas.

HIS RULING PASSION.

A Business Proposition That Just Failed of Success.

There lived in Detroit a man who was the champion letter writer to the newspapers and to the heads of all public enterprises. One of his fads was to write every day to President Ledyard of the Michigan Central railroad and tell Ledyard wherein he was failing in the conduct of his road.

There was a letter for Ledyard every morning. They annoyed him, and he sent for his general counsel one day and said: "Russell, I'm getting tired of these letters. I will give you $3,000 more a year if you will find that man and stop him for twelve months."

Three thousand dollars more a year appealed to Russell, and he went out to find the letter writer. He found him and made a business proposition. "Now, see here," he said, "I want you to stop writing letters to Mr. Ledyard. If you will quit for a year I will give you $1,500."

The letter writer consented gladly. Things went along swimmingly for eleven months. Ledyard was happy, and Russell was happy. Then there was a wreck on the road. The letter writer could not resist the opportunity, and he wrote to Ledyard and told him what he thought about the road and its president and its management.

Ledyard sent the letter to Russell with this indorsement: "This is where you lose $3,000." And it was.—Saturday Evening Post.

Absinth Foretold.

A Paris paper publishes a letter from a correspondent who in the cause of temperance cites a great authority—St. John the Evangelist. It is claimed that the inspired writer proclaims absinth as a terrible scourge and foretells its baneful powers in the eighth chapter of the book of Revelation, where we read in verses 10 and 11: "The third angel sounded a trumpet, and a big star bright as a lamp fell from the sky on to the third part of the rivers and fountains and water. This star is called Wormwood, and the third part of the waters were changed, and many men died of thirst because they were bitter." Wormwood in the English authorized version is rendered "absinth" in the French translation of the New Testament.

I Was Mistaken.

A lively writer has said "'I was mistaken' are the three hardest words to pronounce in the English language." Yet it seems but acknowledging that we are wiser than we were before to see our error and humbler than we were before to own it. But so it is, and Goldsmith observes that Frederick the Great did himself more honor by his letter to his senate stating that he had just lost a great battle by his own fault than by all the victories he had won. Perhaps our greatest perfection here is not to escape imperfections, but to see and acknowledge and lament and correct them.—Jay.

Do Not Stare at the Officers.

Army officers in uniform abound in foreign cities, and in Germany they resent being stared at by tourists, often assuming threatening attitudes in retaliation. As the law permits them to shoot civilians on provocation, it is wise not to excite them. It is well to remember that they do not feel obliged to turn out for pedestrians, even ladies.—Travel Magazine.

Learning the Rules.

Little Elsie — Let's play keeping house. I'll be the lady of the house. Little Margie—And what will I be? Little Elsie—Oh, you'll be another lady come to call on me, and I'll pretend to be glad to see you.—Chicago News.

The Drawback.

Mrs. Meeker (at the play)—I do wish you'd pay more attention to this play, George; it's as good as a sermon. Mr. Meeker (dozing)—It certainly is, my dear, but the darn orchestra wakes me up between acts.—Puck.

In the absence of other testimony Hammonds was released.

—Salisbury, June 27: The officers are conducting an investigation in Chesnut Hill Cemetery where there have been some mysterious actions this week. Last night as a citizen of Chesnut Hill was going home at a late hour, he observed three men standing near a grave having with them a sheet. He was ordered to pass on, which he did but later hid himself in the graveyard and saw a carriage drive up with men in it and the sheet seemed to cover something in the vehicle. The officers went to the place this morning and searched the ground but observed no evidence of the play of ghosts.

—Salisbury, June 27: For beating their sister with a bedslat and breaking her ankle in his cruelty, Spencer Gladdin was shot this morning and almost killed by his two brothers-in-law, Dock Johnson and Luther Allsbrooks. The whipping of their sister took place yesterday and this morning the men went to the home of Gladdin and waited upon him. Allsbrooks used a shotgun and his brother-in-law shot at Gladdin with a pistol, but missed his mark. When Gladdin was found today he was thought to be dead, but later it was developed that he was hit in the legs and may get well. Allsbrooks fled and was not captured until noon when Deputy Julian found the other assailant and lodged both in jail.

—Washington, June 27: One of the saddest accidents that has ever occurred in this city happened just on the suburbs this afternoon, when Daniel Jackson the 12-year-old son of Mr. Charles Jackson, met his death by being run over by a train. It seems the little fellow was amusing himself by stealing a ride on the trucks of one of the Atlantic Coast Line log trains running to the Eureka Lumber Mill and had been repeatedly warned to stop, but continued to do so. In some way he fell from the truck in front of the moving cars, and several cars had passed over his body before he was discovered. The body was fearfully mutilated and Chief of Police George Howard, who happened to be near at the time, picked up his body piece by piece and carried it to the home of his father.

—Faison Correspondence Duplin Journal: Last week was Bean Week in Faison, 3 to 4 car loads being shipped daily and the prices ranged from $1.50 to $3.00 declining this week to $1.00, which closed a profitable bean season for these truckers notwithstanding the early ground hog weather. Cucumbers began to go forward in full blast Monday when 1,200 crates—3 car loads—were shipped—followed by large shipments each day since, which will amount to 5,000 baskets this week. So far the price has been most satisfactory and the truck growers wear smiles daily, now. The cantaloupe crop promises to be large too if not too much rain. Mr. Roy Hines shipped the first box of pepper last Saturday and this crop generally profitable will be ready for market next week while the early corn is in silk and will soon be ready for market. Irish potatoes have taken an upward tendency and those who have waited for bigger potatoes and better prices will hurry now to give their 15 cent cotton and late corn a chance to grow.

NATURE SPARES

The Stricken Rose From Grief.

What a fortunate provision of nature it is, that deprives the rose of mental suffering; for how poignant would be its grief to discover, in the height of its blooming glory, that a canker fed at its heart, and that its beauty and fragrance were doomed forever. Nature always spares the suffering; she is a veritable store-house of pleasing rewards, for those who seek her aid. In the years gone by falling hair and grayness have cast a gloom over the lives of thousands of young women, but thanks to the investigations of scientists the true cause of hair destruction is now known to be a germ or parasite that burrows into the hair follicles. Newbro's Herpicide absolutely destroys this germ, thus permitting the hair to grow as nature intended. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

THE COTTON MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, June 28.—The cotton market today was more active and ruled generally firm owing to the prompt stopping of July notices. The close was steady at an advance of 11 to 18 points. Sales were estimated at 350,000 bales. The market opened steady at an advance of 3 points to a decline of 7 points, the old crop being higher on better cables than expected and bull support while the new crop responded to continued good weather over the belt. It was the first July day and notices estimated to represent about 25,000 bales were said to be circulating. Leading bulls were active buyers of July in the local market, however taking the long contracts thrown over by traders and it soon became evident that the notices were being promptly stopped. This steadied the general list and in the afternoon the market advanced quite sharply with western shorts buying on the bullish old crop developments and rumors of hot winds in Texas. At one time prices were about 19 to 21 points higher on the old crop months and 15 to 16 points higher on the new. The close was a shade off from the best under realizing. It is now rumored that prominent bull interests are practically in control of the local stock and further tenders will be up on july and August should they be issued.

Receipts at the ports today 4,372 bales against 3,121 last week and 4,450 last year. For the week 23,000 bales against 25,948 last week and 30,798 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 797 bales, against 712 last year and at Houston 77 bales against 1,296 last year.

Spot cotton closed steady 15 points higher; middling uplands 13.15; middling gulf 13.40; sales 200 bales. Futures opened and closed steady.

UNWRITTEN LAW IN LOVING TRIAL

Judge Barksdale Allows Jury to Consider It as Extenuating Homicide.

DEFENSE WON THAT POINT

Prosecution Demanded Instructions to Jury That Man Who Avenges His Own Wrongs is Guilty of Murder—Court Refused.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Houston, Va., June 28.—Argument in the trial of former Judge William G. Loving for the murder of Theodore Estes, was begun late this afternoon after a day spent by counsel for both sides in the preparation of instructions, and a wrangle over them before the court. The instructions as read by Judge Barksdale discussed murder, its various degrees, the question of reasonable doubt, the time allowed for a man's angry passions to subside, and especially insanity.

The following instructions prepared by the prosecution touching on the "unwritten law" was stricken out by the court: "No man under the protection of the law has a right to be the avenger of his own wrongs; if they be of a nature for which the laws of society give him an adequate remedy thither should he resort; but be they of any nature whatsoever he has no right to avenge them except in the manner prescribed by the law. The unwritten law, by which is meant the right of the citizen to become the avenger of his own wrongs in a manner not authorized by law or against the law, has no place in the criminal jurisprudence of Virginia."

Attorney Daniel Harmon, of Charlottesville, for the prosecution, and Attorney Aubrey E. Strode, for the defense, spoke for an hour and a half each this afternoon, and the court adjourned at 7 o'clock until tomorrow morning. Messrs. Moore, Barksdale and Lee will then speak for the defense, and Commonwealth's attorney Wood Bouldin, of Halifax county, will close for the prosecution.

Mr. Harmon in his address sought to show that Judge Loving killed Estes after "deliberation, premediation and upon reflection" and that the defendant was a sane and responsible man at the time of the killing, thus making the offense murder in the first degree.

"The defendant," he said, 'is a character that seldom comes before your courts and the case is full of dramatic details. This young man is dead in the prime of life, called to his tragic end without a word of warning, without preparation. You are here to find out who put him to death. At his death he was engaged in his usual occupation. He knew the defendant, and was acquainted with his high temper, but when the negro who was in the car remarked 'Here comes Judge Loving,' he was as unconscious of danger as the old colored man who made that remark. There is no evidence in this case to show that young Estes had been guilty of any wrong-doing and you have no right to base your verdict on any assumption that he was guilty. The Commonwealth will not be given the right to vindicate him, and every man stands in the eyes of the law innocent until he has been proved guilty.

"The first information regarding the condition of affairs is alleged to have come to Judge Loving between 8 and 9 o'clock in the morning and the crime was committed between 3 and 4 o'clock that afternoon. Did he not have time to reflect and deliberate? Judge Loving got in his buggy and with his gun and his ammunition, went in search of young Estes, going to several places before locating him. According to the statement of the defendant, told to the magistrate and on the witness stand here, he said "I deliberately sought his life and killed him.'

"Talk about will power, here is a reformed drunkard who went for twelve years without getting on but sprees, a man who served as a judge of his county with honor and distinction and who is at the head of a large estate. If there is a verdict of acquittal I will ask the court to request you to specify if it is based on insanity. Why is this claim of insanity presented? My friends on the other side must recognize the force and strength of the evidence that is against the defendant."

Attorney Strode, who followed, based his plea almost exclusively on the unwritten law. He said in part:

"We have come to you to present the case for the defendant where we always believed it should be presented, in a court of justice. We believe that the people of Halifax and Nelson counties cherish the same traditions and the same sentiments. The heritage of Virginians is common to us all. The fairest and best trial of a man is before a jury, endowed with similar and like passions. The condition of his mind cannot be decided so well as by a tribunal of his own countrymen. The first principle of law is to put yourself in the place of that man who is before you for trial.

"The Commonwealth demands the life of the defendant and for what? I do not underestimate life, but there is something sweeter to all Virginians—the honor and the purity of our women. We have written in our laws that if a man attempts to assault one of our daughters he has forfeited his life. You, gentlemen of the jury, have nothing to do with the truth or the falsity of the story that Miss Loving told her father. His daughter was his pride. He admits he admired her beauty and her purity. When he heard that this daughter to whom he was bound by ties of affection was brought home drugged and unconscious by a young man to whose courtesy and chivalry she had been entrusted, he labored against his passions and remained away from the sight of young Estes until he heard the story of her ruin from her own lips."

Mr. Strode discussed Judge Loving's struggle against the whiskey habit, the buggy ride and the testimony of the insanity experts. He appealed to each juror not to let "old Halifax go back on that established precedent that one of our most cherished and best duties is the protection of the honor and the virtue of our women."

Judge Loving occupied a seat just behind his attorneys. At his right sat his wife, together with her sister Mrs. Foster, of Richmond, and W. G. Loving, Jr., a son of the defendant. Occupying seats in the court room were Sheriff M. K. Estes, of Nelson county, father of the man killed by Judge Loving and two of the sheriff's sons, Adley Estes, of St. Louis, and M. K .Estes, Jr., of Lovingston; and John P. Swanson, of Danville, brother-in-law of young Theodore Estes.

IMPORTANT CASE UNDER RATE LAW

American Bankers Association Put Interstate Commission Onto Express Companies.

COMPETING WITH BANKS

Several Express Companies Doing Banking Business Cheaper Than Banks and Are Using Capital of Banks to Do It.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Washington, June 28.—One of the most important cases filed with the Inter-State Commerce Commission under the new railroad rate law was presented to the Commission today by the American Bankers' Association. In brief the complainant alleges that the express companies of the United States, through their power and facilities as common carriers, are usurping the prerogatives of banking associations and, at the same time, are employing the capital of the banks of the country in the conduct of their business. It is alleged that the operations of the express companies has in the conduct of their exchange business is seriously detrimental to the interests of the banks and that the use of the inter-State facilities and the relations which the express companies have with the railroads enable the companies seriously to discriminate against regular commercial operations of banking institutions.

The complaint is directed against the Adams Express Company, the United States Express Company, the American Express Company, the Pacific Express Company, the Wells-Fargo Express, the Southern Express Company and the Great Northern Express.

The American Bankers' Association asserts that it is an association of 7,500 banks, whose business is, among other things, the buying and selling of domestic and foreign exchange and conducting other commercial transactions involving the transportation of money or credits. It is aleged that the defendant companies are engaged in carrying on the business of dealing in exchange, in every form a business which long has been the recognized function of banks; and that the defendants have encroached on this recognized business of the banks by buying and selling money and transferring money by cable and by mail, thus conducting a general financial business. It is alleged that the defendants are competing unfairly and in a discriminatory way with the banks and subjecting them to undue prejudice and disadvantage, because the defendants, as common carriers are able to transport moneys and credits at a far lower rate than is paid by the banks. In accomplishing this result, it is alleged further, the defendants compel the banks to make unnecessary shipments of money in Inter-State Commerce over the lines of the express companies. It is asserted also that in the ordinary course of their business the banks are forced to cash express money orders and drafts without the charging of interests, thus supplying the express companies the capital to compete with the banks in the transaction of their business.

It is maintained that these facts constitute a violation of the inter-State commerce act and the complainant association requests the Inter-State Commerce Commission to issue such orders and to make such regulations as will prevent the defendant companies in the future from violating the law and to make such rules as will afford the complainant adequate protection against the alleged unfair and discriminatory operations of the express companies.

Long Arguments in Fight Against the 2 1-4-Cent Fare Act.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Asheville, N. C., June 28.—The case of the Atlantic Coast Line stockholders against the Corporation Commissioners of North Carolina and the officials and directors of the company to prevent the enforcement of the reduced rates enactment of the North Carolina Legislature, begun in the United States Circuit Court before Judge J. C. Pritchard today. Victor S. Bryant, of Durham, of counsel for the defendants, made the opening argument and was followed by Wm. A. Glasgow, of Philadelphia, who spoke for the complainants. Both arguments were along the lines of those presented in the case of the Southern Railway against the commissioners.

PALMETTO STATE AT EXPOSITION

South Carolina Day Celebrated With Brilliant Success at Jamestown.

STATE HAS FINE EXHIBIT

Ladies Served South Carolina Grown Tea to Visitors—Editor Gonzales Makes Happy Speech—Governor Ansel Speaks.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Norfolk, Va., June 28.—Two thousand loyal sons of the Palmetto State, despite a drizzling rain that fell off and on throughout the day, loyally assisted Governor Martin F. Ansel and his staff today in making South Carolina Day at the Jamestown Exposition an unqualified success. The features of the day carried out to the letter consisted of an address by Governor Ansel, address by President St. George Tucker, of the Jamestown Exposition Company, oration by Hon. Walter Hazard, of South Carolina; parade and review in afternoon on Lee Parade, and reception in the evening to Governor Ansel at the Virginia building.

The spectacular feature, marred in part only by rain, was the parade of soldiers in the afternoon. Rebel yells made the welkin ring when the Second South Carolina Regiment swung past the reviewing stand, dipping their colors to the State's chief executive.

The parade line passing in review was composed of United States 23d Infantry, Second Regiment of South Carolina National Guard, First Kentucky regiment National Guard, Citadel Academy Cadets, of South Carolina; six companies of marines and sailors from United States warships, and a squadron of United States cavalry.

The reception to Governor Ansel in the evening held at the Virginia State building, through the courtesy of Governor Claude A. Swanson, was one of the brilliant social events of the Exposition period and was participated in by Exposition officials, Virginia and South Carolna State officials, prominent Norfolkians and army and navy officers.

The official exercises occurred in the main auditorium building and were attended by hundreds of visiting and resident South Carolinians. The addresses were notable and were received with great enthusiasm.

W. E. Gonzales, president of the South Carolina Commission to the Jamestown Exposition, spoke in part as follows:

"Our State may be charged with inconsistency in celebrating the landing of the English at Jamestown three centuries ago, while at the same time glorying at the inhospitality of Colonel William Moultrie in the little fort of Palmetto logs to the advances of Sir Peter Parker on the 28th of June 1776. But it does not come within my province to harmonize the apparent contradiction. The South Carolina Commission must deal more with the present. In these times of peace we cannot indulge in Boston tea parties, or live entirely within the reflected halo of Moultrie or Sumter, but it is something to have the only tea gardens in America; it is more to be endeavoring by precept and example to elevate the standard of our citizenship."

Mr. Gonzales deplored the fact that South Carolina is without a building at the exposition and thanked Governor Swanson for the use of the Virginia State building, where he said the South Carolina Commission had violated a time-honored tradition by inviting the Governor of South Carolina and the Goverpor of North Carolina to "clink glasses of water."

In referring to the South Carolina exhibit in the States' Exhibit Palace. zales said:

"If that which has been accomplished here is gratifying to South Carolinians, if in viewing their State's first appearance at a great exposition they are given a larger conception of that State's resources and made to appreciate more fully her industrial victories, if by the stirring of their pride these sons and daughter are encouraged to greater endeavor and achievements, then the exhibit is its justification and those that created it are rewarded."

Following the official ceremonies, the celebration of the day was continued at the South Carolina State exhibit in th States' Exhibit Palace, where the Palmetto State has an exceptionally fine exhibit of its products, occupying almost one entire side of the Palace. South Carolina-raised tea was served to all callers, being poured by laides of the official South Carolina party and served by Japanese girls.

The late afternoon programme includes a grand military review by Governor Ansel.

The day's celebration was brought to a close tonight with an official reception by the South Carolina party in the Virginia State Building when Governor Ansel and the South Carolina Commission had as their guests Governor Warfield, of Maryland, Governor Swanson, of Virginia, and Hon. Frank Oliver, Minister of the Interior for the Dominion of Canada.

Newport News Shipbuilding Company Suing for Disputed Balance.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Norfolk, Va., June 28.—Judge Waddill, of the United States Circuit Court, is hearing the case of the Newport News Shipbuilding Company against the United States government for a claim of $6,000, alleged to have been contracted by additional work on the cruiser Charleston, after the trial trip and the vessel's acceptance. The government is contesting the case on the ground that the work should have been done under the original contract, not invalidated by the acceptance. The case will be concluded tomorrow.
